HALLMARK 1968

ROWLAND HALL- ST. MARK'S SCHOOL SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

A tree is whatever any person sees in it—simplicity, life, growth, freedom, beauty. It can be a refuge in times of loneliness or a symbol of order and permanence in times of chaos.

A tree of knowledge is watered and kept by those who strive to make it blossom in intellect and wisdom. Its base was made from a family which is now long past and yet, the branches are continually bursting forth with new and better ideas.

Some trees change appearance with every season while others remain constant throughout the year. Some grow straight and tall and bear abundant fruit; others are twisted, gnarled, and unproductive.

A school is like a tree—our school like a productive one. In what measure we have partaken of the fruits it has offered will determine how productive our lives will be. With leaders of today and tomorrow, we will continue to build new branches and grow in our wisdom, strength, and knowledge.

Some younger students enjoy the festivities and goodies at the annual Fall Bazaar. A beautiful view of the school not often noticed by the students, who are busily pursuing academics and activities. Ray Wilson displays agility and proficiency as a member of the school soccer team.

James B. 1903

A quiet moment before students arrive, the chapel reflects peaceful solitude, tranquillity, and inspiration.

Mrs. Clarke's artistry on the organ has been a welcome addition to the Friday chapel services. Mr. Larimer, professionally known as "Tony", concentrates on his lines for his part as a narrator in the University of Utah production of War and Peace. Mr. Keating shows his skill as he participates in one of the booths of the penny arcade at the Bazaar.

Bishop Watson greets students after delivering an enjoyable and enlightening address in chapel.

Mr. Keating joins Mrs. Bradley and her senior English class in a dramatic reading which proved to be one of the highlights of the course.

The evolution of RHSM from St. Mark's School for boys and Rowland Hall School for girls is exhibited by the various crests and the senior rings.

Mr. Dodd, the new physics teacher, prepares to give his students a first-hand demonstration of acceleration.

Bob Axelrad practices his lines for his role in I Remember Mama.

A headmaster of a South African private school, clarifies economic, political and social conditions in that country.

Mr. Dodd and his physics class discuss detailed experiments on a field trip to the University of Utah.

David Axelrad, Bobbie Burns, and Riley Carkeek prepare to dramatize the voyages of Odysseus for the senior English classes.

Mr. Keating and a volunteer work crew clean the parking lot for student and faculty use.

Mr. Keating and members of the faculty enjoy the seniors as they present a slightly altered and more modern view of Homer's classic Odysseus.

Relaxing in the solitude of the senior room, Carol Grove takes a rest from her busy activities.

Parents enjoy refreshments during a break in the back to school activities.

A scene from Miriam and the Donkey presented during the Candle and Carol service.

An interesting view of the school in late summer.

To those who do not always understand, her patience seems inexhaustible.

Among those whose interest may sometimes lag, she inspires enthusiasm.

To those who have ability, she offers challenge and discovery.

For any one with a special problem, she is willing to give of her time, understanding, consideration, and encouragement. For every one of her students, her dedication is tireless, and they love her for it.

She has the remarkable quality of instilling in every student she teaches the desire to learn more. There is something in her manner that makes her classes exciting and makes her students believe in the value of what she teaches.

In the course of a student's career there are few teachers who make a lasting enough impression to be remembered as good teachers. It can be said, without any reservations, that she is a good teacher.

For her patience, dedication, and inspiration, we appreciate, with love, Mrs. Ruth McKain.

Under the able direction of the administration, the faculty and staff, provide the environment, facilities, background, and inspiration which enable the students to pursue their goals of academic achievement and personal maturity.

This is the purpose of the school to provide a setting in which each individual can recognize his own true worth. The faculty and staff have proved their dedication to this ideal by the long hours they spend, patiently, and often with little thanks, working to improve the school and enrich the students. The days are long and at times it may seem that their efforts have had little result, but they never abandon the task and in the end, they receive the reward of knowing their work has not been in vain.

Headmaster

Mr. Keating keeps things running smoothly and exhibits a willingness to give assistance to any student with any problems.

ADMINISTRATION brings order to what would have been confusion.

Mrs. Mary Edith McManus
Head of Lower School

Mrs. McManus heads the Lower School with energetic enthusiasm and keeps her lively students on their toes.

Mr. Emmet Larimer
Dean of Students

Mr. Larimer, whose position as Dean of Students is only one of many, adds wit and wisdom to nearly every facet of school life.

Father Francis L. Winder
Chaplain

Father Pete, as he is affectionately called, is a friend and confidante to students of all faiths.

The efficiency of the office staff: left to right, Mrs. Joan Craft, Mrs. Carol Nichols, and Mrs. Greta Graham, would lead one to think the staff were much larger, for they keep on top of mountains of paperwork.

THE PERSONNEL help set the backdrop for student activities.

Cooks Mary Wood and Margaret Beck, with the help of Terry Grayson somehow manage to accomplish a difficult, two-fold task. They run the kitchen efficiently and serve meals that are consistently varied and delicious.

Few of us appreciate or are even aware of the amount of work that Phyllis Reed puts into keeping our surroundings not only neat and comfortable, but pleasant as well.

Maury Percy's cheerful smile serves as a reassuring reminder that all areas of the school that may require maintenance, no matter how complex, lie in his skillful hands.

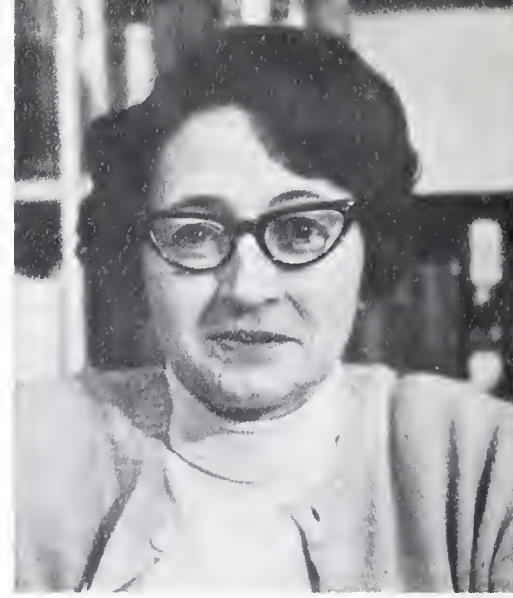

Mr. Richard P. Anderson
Head of Science Department

He leads students through the amazing labyrinths of modern science.

Mrs. Jane Frances Bradley
Head English Department

Her vast knowledge and love of learning as well as teaching endear her to her students.

Mrs. Genevieve Carey
English Department

Her lively wit and enthusiasm are assurances that her classes are never dull.

Mrs. Mary R. Clark
English Department

She is a teacher from whom a student cannot help but learn.

Mr. Richard N. Crangle
Language Department-Latin

His introduction to great classics has earned him the affectionate title of Magister Bonus.

Mr. Tommy Dodd
Science Department-Physics

With his guidance, the most intricate problems become soluble.

Mr. George Fox
Art Department

His students learn to appreciate the art work of others and create their own.

Mr. M. G. Koetter
Mathematics Department

He injects an unparalleled sense of humor into the classroom.

Mrs. Avanell Learned
Head of Language Department

Her great store of knowledge of culture and history as well as the French language enriches all her classes.

Mrs. Ruth V. McKain
Head of Mathematics Department

She inspires curiosity and enthusiasm for learning.

Mrs. Martha Miller
Head of History Department

Her open-mindedness in sharing her knowledge generates enthusiasm.

Mr. Gerald Ottley
Music Department

In a brief time, he has demonstrated his virtuosity as a musician and teacher.

UPPER SCHOOL FACULTY has the difficult job of preparing students to become self-reliant and responsible after they leave RHSM. The success they have achieved in meeting this goal has been the result of an unusual trust and rapport between students and teachers. Because of this mutual relationship, each individual is aware of his own value as a part of a unified whole.

Mr. William Purdy
History Department-College Counselor

His teaching is not of facts but of the forces that have moved men throughout history.

Mrs. Karen Robertson
Science Department-Biology

She makes biology not a dull textbook course, but a living study of life.

Mrs. Connie Sabir
Language Department-Spanish

Her youthful personality and interest in the students are assets to her classes.

Mrs. Tina Brothers
3rd Grade

She brings variety to her classes and keeps the interest of her students high.

Mrs. Charlotte Burgess
Music

Talent and liveliness combine to make her class a popular one.

Mrs. Eileen Coughlass
Nursery

She teaches her children how to get along with each other as a first step in their education.

Mrs. Katherine Edwards
Kindergarten

Her firm hand has guided kindergarteners for many years.

LOWER SCHOOL FACULTY excite the imagination of the little ones and arouse their curiosity in the world about them. Each day they help the children to discover something new so that their interest never slackens. Given this rich background, they will fully appreciate the joys of living and learning as they grow older.

Mrs. Janette Fischer
5th and 6th Grades

Her use of visual aids makes learning easier and more enriching for her students.

Mrs. Kay Hackett
Girls' P.E. and Tennis

Her students in both the upper and lower school learn to develop coordination and athletic skills.

Mrs. LeeAnn Hollis
1st Grade

She teaches her students to develop good study habits for later years.

Mrs. Hazel Kirk
Nursery

Her love of children and ability to communicate with them are her secrets to success.

Mrs. Carolyn Morris
3rd Grade

Young and enthusiastic ideas enliven her classes.

Mademoiselle Jeanne Perrachon
French

Her students learn not only the language but the flavor of France as well.

Mrs. Helen Raybould
1st Grade

Her dedication and quiet manner insure confidence among the first graders.

Mrs. Helen Smith
6th Grade and Psychology

She prepares students for that all-important step to seventh grade.

Mr. "Dutch" Uhrlaub
Geography and Boys' P.E.

He teaches his classes to expand their horizons and discover other worlds.

Mrs. Marguerite Walker
3rd and 4th Grades

Building sound character is the most important lesson she teaches.

Mrs. Jam Woodman
Nursery

Her love of children is but one of her many assets.

Ruth Platner, Alison Brown, and Paula Cox demonstrate the conviviality of dormitory life.

GIRLS' BOARDING DEPARTMENT

Debbie King relaxes in her room during one of the rare quiet moments in the boarding department.

ORGANIZATIONS

The representatives in Student Council chosen by the students, present ideas from class meetings to help strengthen student government and promote activities. These weekly meetings may be attended by any student who might wish to provide a problem to be solved or a solution to a problem. Student Council is the liaison between administration and students.

Carol Grove

Steve Rosenberg

The Student Council congregates at the Brighton Retreat for a special session. It's members are: from left to right, Crucifer Jane Little, Sophomore President Susan Williamson, Prefect Carol Grove, Crucifer Jeffrey Harris, Activity Director Chris Clark, Junior Representative Susan Scott, Prefect Greg Smith, Freshman President Mike Winther, Prefect Steve Rosenberg, Advisor Father Pete Winder, Prefect Barbara Burns, Activity Director Candy Kolb, and Senior President David Axelrad.

Barbara Burns

Greg Smith

The Senate consists of the four Prefects, the Headmaster, the Dean of Students and the Chaplain. Together these leaders probe the everlasting anxieties of bettering our school life. Not all students are able to formulate and present ideas to the student body. It takes a lot of hard work, perseverance, and dedication.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

is the liaison between Administration and students.

They say, "behind every man is a woman", but behind the Hallmark staff are the editors. They are: Layout Editor Suzanne Erwin, Copy Editor Carol Grove, Photographer Phil Ershler, Business Editor Marlene Kassel, Art Editors Jane Bradley and Greg Smith, and Photographer David Axelrad.

Although Jane Woltersdorf has had many a hard day's work and numerous brain storming sessions as editor of the Hallmark, she still has room for a smile.

THE HALLMARK

is a treasure book of a student's activities and memories.

The dedicated yearbook staff is gathered at a yearbook session in the Kindergarten room. They are, back row, left to right: Jody Burns, Diane Clemow, Kristine Zelenkov, Ellen Scott, Robert Axelrad, Nedra Morgan. Front row: Alison Brown, Jane Little, Brick Thompson, Chris Clark, Jim Fessenden, and Kris Osborn.

The busy editor of the literary magazine, Jane Bradley, stops for a brief moment to listen to a possible entry for the Medallions.

MEDALLIONS and LIONS

Thom Jensen and Stuart Cohen are diligently ironing out the problems of the school newspaper the Lions.

Under the direction of Mr. Richard Crangle, the Latin Club was a great success this year. Among many great events was the annual Latin Club Banquet. This and other diverse activities made for a much fuller experience for all of this year's Latin students.

As Jim Woolf and Mr. Crangle go over one of the Latin class's homework assignments, the ancient language doesn't seem so "Greek" to Jim anymore.

LATIN CLUB

a link between past and present.

El Club de Espanol adds to the enjoyment of the members of Mrs. Sabir's Spanish classes. The Club promotes communication in Spanish and also promises many fun activities. Its activities included participation in the annual school Bazaar, and dinner at different Spanish restaurants in town. The Club tries to achieve an atmosphere de Espanol.

SPANISH CLUB

French students and chaperones sit quietly while waiting for their food at Le Bistro, a truly French restaurant.

While waiting to receive their order of coc au vin, Libby Bernstein, Marcia McElroy, and Kris Osborn seem to be enjoying themselves at Le Bistro.

The students of the French Club learn not only the language of a foreign country but also the customs associated with the language. This year included with it's scholastic achievements dinner at Le Bistro, the play Tartuffe at the University of Utah and the sweet voices of French students singing Christmas carols accompanied by Madame Learned on her horn.

FRENCH CLUB

Rowland Hall - St. Mark's played a very important role in the Model United Nations this year. Under the direction of Mrs. Miller, a small group of people represented the nation of Israel. All of their resolutions were accepted on the committee level and some even went on to be considered by the General Assembly. These people made an excellent showing and represented both Israel and this school very well.

The Model United Nations Club did a fine job of representing the small nation of Israel, a very important country in both the real United Nations and the Model U. N.

MODEL U.N.

CHAPEL

Jane M. Little

Jane Little, girl Crucifer this year, fulfills the role of Crucifer perfectly. She takes charge of the Chapel service when necessary and also of the girl acolytes. As she walks down the aisle in perfect reverence, one knows that she feels a pride in her position.

CRUCIFERS

the highest appointiv

Jeffery Harris

Jeff Harris is the dedicated boy crucifer this year. He has served our school with a meaning and dignity in the tradition of former crucifers. The students having placed their faith in Jeff have not gone unrewarded. He has fulfilled all obligations of his office proficiently.

offices in the school.

Recommended by the student body and approved by the Bishop, the acolytes' positions are a most important part of the school's religious community. Each acolyte emits a feeling of reverence and sincerity thus creating an overall sense of peaceful worship. The acolytes help promote a most impressive chapel service and keep it running smoothly. They are to be congratulated for their upholding an excellent tradition.

ACOLYTES

both juniors and seniors assist in a most impressive chapel service.

CHAPEL CHOIR

lends a harmonizing effect to the chapel service.

Acolyte Chris Clark is kept busy during the service and after and only then is he ready to relax.

Under the skilled direction of Mr. Ottley the choir has done a marvelous job this year. Every Friday the Choir sings a special anthem which adds a great deal to the service.

The girls who faithfully clean the chapel and help to set up or take down the altar cloths and so on for the services belong to the Chapel and Altar Guilds. There is no real glory found in the small tedious jobs that have to be done, except the glory of satisfaction of a job well done.

The Chapel committee is not far different from the Guilds of the Chapel. It is a part of the religious community also. It is a committee set up to change and make the service a more unusual and interesting chapel service.

Even though they have to work hard there still is room left for mirth as is exhibited by the Altar Guild. They are, back row from left to right: Marlene Kassel, Valli Gibbons, Jody Burns, Susan Scott. Second row: Lynn Wehrli, Ellen Shott, Patty George, Helen Hay, Suzanne Erwin. Front row: Barbara Burns, Nedra Morgan, Jane Little, Shauna Roberts, and Dale Temple. In absentia: Joan Williamson and Jann Hirschy.

CHAPEL GUILD and COMMITTEE

The peace and serenity of the unlit candles and open book give the chapel its essence of tranquillity.

After an early Communion service and before a Chapel Committee meeting, Father Pete enjoys his breakfast.

The organist is once again adding strains of melodious effect to the chapel service.

The lights above the nave add their warmth to the atmosphere of quietness that is the chapel.

SPORTS

Carol Grove and Shauna Roberts avidly watch one of the basketball games in process.

The members of the Drill Team and Pep Club have spent many long hours adding to the spirit of the RHSM basketball games. Among their activities they decorate the gym, plan pep assemblies, and perform drills at the game. Their most impressive activity was overwhelming support of the Lions.

CHEERLEADERS

Dale Temple, the fifth varsity cheerleader, performs the splits at a pep assembly.

Varsity Cheerleaders add much to the spirit of the basketball team with cheers and routines. They are, from top to bottom: Susan Scott, Lynn Wehrl, Pat Remley, Candy Kolb and in absentia Dale Temple.

SOCCER

Using his head to pass the ball is Riley Carkeek.

Ray Wilson makes a successful attempt to block the ball from the goal.

Rand Marcus, captain of the basketball team, drives in for a lay-up.

The Ski Team headed by Mrs. Hackett, center, trains Wednesdays during the Winter Sports Program.

SKI CLUB OFFICERS: Mike Nowels, President; Jody Burns, Vice-President; and Chris Clark, Treasurer.

STUDENTS

Bulletin boards are an excellent learning tool and source of pride to the children who help to make them.

In addition to scholastic activities, the young people of the first grade clean their desks.

An amiable teacher, giving assistance when needed, induces the children to enjoy learning.

Debbie, like the other second graders, enjoys and benefits from her private study time.

These shining little examples of "childish innocence" are, in alphabetical order: Jodi Anderson, Brooke Batson, Lida Berliner, Richard Berliner, Douglas Brown, Barbara Burnell, Katherine Coda, Scott Curry, Robin Eliason, LaVerne Erickson, Nadine Guss, Torry Hogle, Steven Houck, Elizabeth Hughes, Michelle Hultquist, Leilani Latimer, Paul MacFarlane, Susie Rankin, Mark Ring, Erin Roberts, Katy Secor, May Siegel, Steven Stover, Mandy Walker, Elizabeth Bean, Susie Clark, Lori Edwards, Jamie Gerbig, Rebecca Johnson, John Matthews, Wood Palmer, Mary Anne Parkinson, John Stead, Traci Anderson, Merriott Dougan, Grigham Gibbs, Rodger Larsen, Peter O'Neil and Traci Robinson. Later additions to the Nursery School are Elizabeth Anne Adair, Gloria Brockbank, William Cullen and Caroline Kentel.

NURSERY SCHOOL

Poised on the brink of inspiration the kindergarteners prepare to create artistic masterpieces.

To a small child the world is filled with bigness. Learning to draw and play together easily are big jobs for the little "students". Their life is continually overwhelmed by giants with loud voices and trying to be quiet in chapel. With the guidance of their superb teacher, Mrs. Edwards, they will be fully prepared to go on to the next phase of their school life.

KINDERGARTEN

New experiences outdoors as well as indoors await our Kindergarteners. They are, in alphabetical order: Glen Bean, Katherine Berman, Ken Brothers, Peter Coles, Hilary Cummings, Greg Dokos, Kathy Dougan, Mary Jane Hale, Tyler Horsley, Kristina Linden, Robert Maddox, Janet Ma-son, Joy Merritt, Elizabeth Null, Ann Palmer, Thomas Ramsey, Donna Reister, Brian Rankin, Joey Roach, Chris Robinson, Carla Siegel, Richard Van Der Heyde, Todd White, and Stacey Wong.

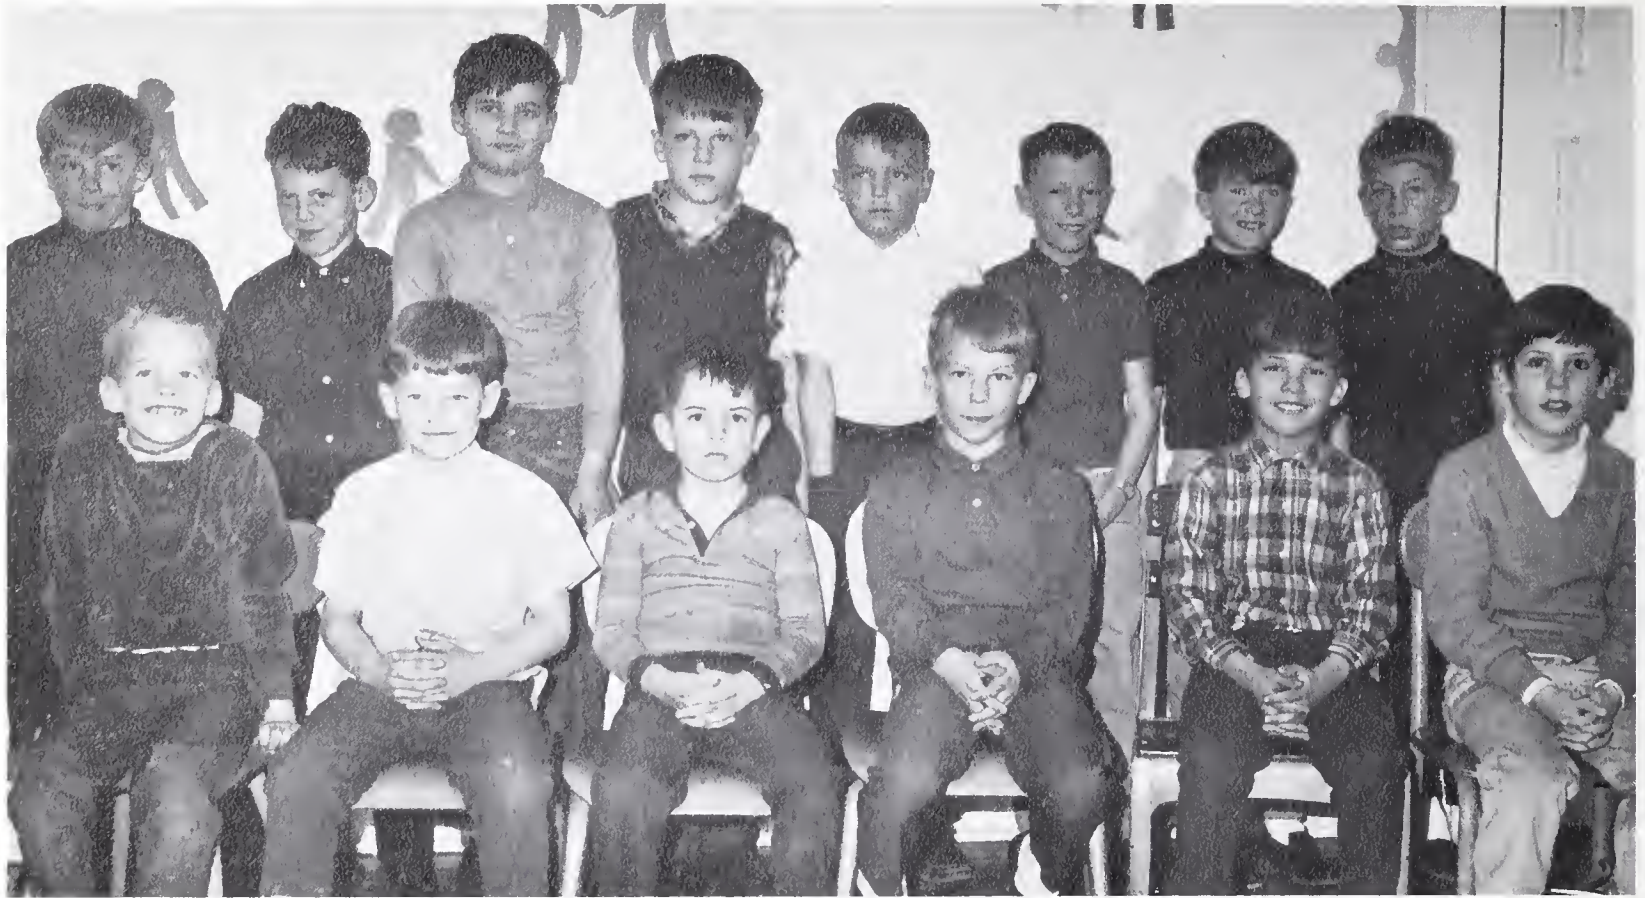

The studious first graders take time out for pictures. They are, in alphabetical order: John Adair, Chip Atkinson, Charles Booth, Paul Browning, Tracy Bunting, Michael Bunnell, Jeffrey Clarke, Susan Coda, Wendy Coulson, Ann Jenine Freeman, John Horsley, Susan Hughes, John Keating, Brian Miles, Cydney Nelson, Susan Null, Julie Pannier, Deidre Price, Robert Rankin, Richard Rosenblatt, Sarah Sandberg, Steve Secor, Sue Lisa Siegal, Susan Stover, Michael Trapp, Alexander Walker, Andrew Wallace, Matthew Wallace, Nina Waisman, James Warenski, Mark
Williams, and Julie Wolfe.

FIRST GRADE

is the initial step towards further education.

Although these students do a lot of work, they still have time for a smile. They are, in alphabetical order: Michael Browning, John Dreyfous, Rodrigo Eyzaguirre, Ronald Faxon, John Feeny, Tom Hartford, Kimberly Henneman, Kevin MacBeth, John Perl, Steven Price, Drew Purdy, Eric Ring, Alexander Robinson, Kyle Treadway, Jeff Walton, Stacy Rosenblatt, and Gary Young.

SECOND GRADE

One of the second grade students ponders over a new word in his reading text.

Reading and writing are the most important things to know. While they are learning, second graders are led to believe that school is fun. They are lured rather than forced into learning during a period in school life which proves to be a most important encounter. The teachers make every minute interesting. It takes a lot of patience, but by the end of the year they have given the students the basis for the school life that lies ahead of them.

THIRD GRADE: Buoyant from their recess period the third graders take time to pose: in alphabetical order, Carenlee Barkdull, Michele Bats, William Burns, Ravonne Brothers, Kathy Coles, Andy Coulson, Ann Geldzahler, Melissa Guss, Carin McConaughy, Kelly Macbeth, Dave Siegel, Sam Souvall, Kathy Trapp, Eric Weisman, Christopher Weston, Jeff Wolfe, and Kathy Wheatley.

Here Mrs. Morris, the third grade teacher, gives a student in need some extra time and help.

THIRD G R A D E

MEMBERS OF THE FOURTH GRADE—In alphabetical order: Carol Burgess, Laurel Dokos, Pepita Eyzaguirre, Carolyn Fredrick, Judy Kassel, Michael Macris, Cherri Neilson, Ann Perl, Josh Rosenblatt, and Jane Warenski.

FOURTH GRADE

Fairplay, a big part of the teachings for fourth graders, is being exemplified here by two of them.

Students of the fourth and fifth grades soon reach the age of even more inquisitiveness and maturity. They not only are taught that classroom instruction and their textbooks are very important for basic education, but also that outside independent research is important and supplemental.

Their teachers are very proud of their students who they know will be the leaders of the future.

FIFTH GRADE

Here members of the fifth grade are shown avidly listening to a lecture given by their teacher. One interested student, puzzled about the subject, raises his hand to ask a question.

MEMBERS OF THE FIFTH GRADE— In alphabetical order: Arthur Brothers, Ann Charve, Jeff Coles, Lisa Feeny, Kimberly McConaughy, Peter Monson, Lyn Modling, Francine Pullman, Rebecca Ring, Shawn Treadway, Whitney Wallace, Michael Wolfe, Jim Robertson, Tad Weems, Roberta Young, and Paul Zelenkov.

SIXTH GRADE—On this nice day the sixth graders decided to pose outside, in alphabetical order: Sharon Brinkerhoff, Leslie Bats, Chris Browning, Glen Faxon, Gwen Jones, Dorothy Miller, Becky Nibley, Patricia Perl, Glen Purdy, Darcey Rosenblatt, Lisa Warenski, Barbara Weems, and Debra Deon Weston.

SIXTH GRADE

Instead of being content with just examining the flora around the school campus, these sixth graders decided to try it out for taste.

SEVENTH GRADERS—Left to right: Sally Hackett, Bruce Purdy, John Darger, and Jim Dreyfous, pose.

SEVENTH GRADE

Nanette Gallant, Dudley Amoss, Jr., and Dirk Christy take a rest on the steps before continuing the day.

Entertaining at the Homecoming dance are "The Entertainers", who presented a phenomenal floor show at 11:00 p.m.

Anyone for homework and lunch? Mike Nowels seems to think that the two go together well.

Thom Jensen and Mike Nowels carry on the tradition of the "Popular Club" started in 1967 by Ron Rainger and Jon Sweet. Their motto—Man without woman.

Anyone cold? Chris Clark won't have that problem with his 1920 racoon coat on.

Sophomore girls enjoy a few brief moments posing in the spring sunshine before returning to their respective classes.

The junior year is a period of transition from the days of being told exactly how to accomplish each task that is required to the time of accepting responsibility and learning to work out problems independently. During this period vital changes occur which enable each student to face the hectic but rewarding pressures of their final year in high school.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Kris Zelenkov, Secretary; Sue Scott, Student Council Representative; Jim Fessenden, President; and Stuart Cohen, Vice-President.

The tree has grown to maturity and we are all caught out on a limb. Our roots have established a mighty foundation. The sap is beginning to flow. Our trunk has massive strength, potentially a bunch of toothpicks.

The Seniors have established a fun loving attitude along with a sense of responsibility.

SENIORS

Talk about maturity, Judy Edwards is seriously considering the lecture that the senior class is receiving, while Tiny Dryer smiles with approval.

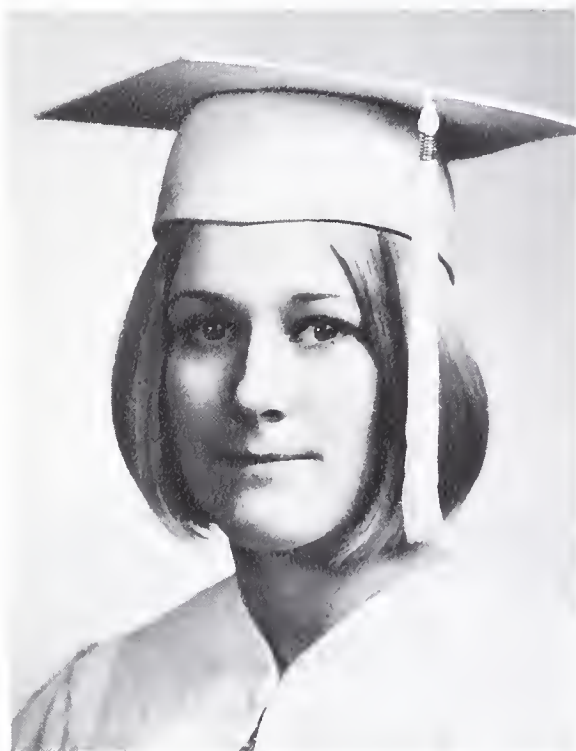

Carol Grove is thinking, "I'm going to push Jane Little off this tree, but she doesn't know it yet."

ACTIVITIES

Riley Carkeek challenges anyone with the ability to throw a ball and pay a quarter, to try and knock him off the dunking machine, a senior project at the Fall Bazaar.

BAZAAR

Everybody loves a clown and this one seems to be loved more than most. She was participating at the pie throwing contest and it seems someone had good aim.

"Bazaar Freeway" seems to be the subject of this candid picture.

Father Pete as he sits and contemplates the proceeds from the Bazaar seems to be thinking, "I wonder if they'll miss any of it?"

"Christmas in October"? Anyone looking at this picture would probably wonder at the possibility that RHSM is hoping that Christmas will come sooner than usual.

Eat it today—Wear it tomorrow!

Sue Scott projects a flowery attitude into the RHSM Bazaar this year.

Uncle Chris gives his nephew Arne advice on how to bear pain like a true Norwegian.

ALL SCHOOL PLAY

The members of the Hansen family gather to share the latest gossip over a cup of coffee. The adults laugh indulgently at the capricious Dagmar and her imaginary cat which she has recently christened Uncle Elizabeth.

Tiny Dryer and Stuart Cohen, in "Miriam and the Donkey," stand amazed as they see the brilliant light in the sky.

Truly the Son of God is born, and gathered around his manger are the awed worshippers.

CANDLE and CAROL

The miserly innkeeper and the rich wisemen gather together, and contemplate the mysterious star.

David Axelrad as the innkeeper in "Miriam and the Donkey", refuses to help the poor shepherds.

The Activities' Directors, Candy Kolb and Chris Clark, spent long hours creating original decorations for a festive atmosphere.

Their hard work was well rewarded, however, judging by the response when the music began to play.

FALL and WINTER DANCES

The psychedelic expressions of the Holden Caulfield at the Christmas Dance generated an excited response from all who made the scene.

Mr. Larimer is treated to a few minutes under the spell of the music and the lights.

Jane Little receives her corsage as Senior Attendant to the Homecoming Queen.

Jane Little

Robin Temple and Sharon Salisbury, Sophomore and Freshman attendants smile proudly.

Jim Voigt received the title of "Mr. Irresistible" and Diane Bean was chosen as this year's Homecoming Queen.

Sue Scott seems entranced by the atmosphere at the Valentine Dance.

The highlight of the evening was a dynamic floor show put on by members of the popular band—The Entertainers.

Seniors exchange culture with a member of the French Navy.

And exhibit overwhelming enthusiasm for Rodin's famous sculpture of "The Thinker" in front of the Palace of Legion of Honor Museum.

But even more for the products at the Beringer Brothers Winery in the Napa Valley where they were treated to a tour and an explanation of the art of manufacturing fine wines.

The Golden Gate Bridge, enshrouded in mist, was a symbol of the brief and breathtaking moments that all too soon were gone but not forgotten.

Even though they were on the verge of exhaustion as the trip drew to a close, a few of them managed to smile once more for the camera.

The highlight of the senior girls' year is the bus trip to San Francisco during which seventeen vivacious girls descend for a week on the unexpected city by the bay. Under the guidance and supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Keating, Mrs. Robertson, and Mrs. McManus, they discovered art museums, cable cars, plays, swimming in the surf, concerts, French sailors, Brotherhood Way, and the joy of seeing their dinner cooked alive on the Wharf.

SENIOR GIRLS'

SAN FRANCISCO TRIP

Four merry girls pause for a picture while on a cruise of the Bay area.

Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. McManus were more than chaperones — they were pals.

Enthusiastic RHSM skiers leave the bus and prepare to bombard the powder-covered slopes at Brighton.

WINTER SPORTS

Nedra Morgan concentrates on the art of keeping her balance while learning to ice-skate.

Jane Little turns to model one of the many fashions placed on display by the senior girls.

Under the direction of the senior class, the dining room was transformed into a showplace for a dazzling array of spring styles— from jumpsuits to formals.

FASHION SHOW

The Sadie Hawkins Dance also found students modeling spring fashions, a little less conventional.

Chris Clark smiles, proud and relieved, as he puts the final touches on the decorations for the last dance of the year.

Students throughout the school have shown excellence in a wide variety of talents and fields of interest. If it were possible every student would be recognized for the contribution he has made to enriching student life. Some students, however, have received special awards for their talents and it is to them that this page is dedicated with the hope that they and all other students will achieve success in all their endeavors.

"Heinsius, the keeper of the Library at Leyden in Holland, was mewed up in it all the year long; and that to which thy thinking should have bred a loathing, caused in him a greater liking. I no sooner (saith he) come into the Library, but I bolt the door to me, excluding lust, ambition, avarice, and all such vices, whose nurse is idleness, the mother of ignorance, and melancholy herself, and in the very lap of eternity, amongst so many divine souls, I take my seat, with so lofty a spirit and sweet content, that I pity all our great ones, and rich men that know not this business."
